Stable employment creates a better quality of life

What is UPMC Pathways to Work?

UPMC Pathways to Work connects job seekers to opportunities. As the largest nongovernmental employer in Pennsylvania, UPMC has hundreds—sometimes thousands—of job openings at any given time. Through our relationships with workforce and employment organizations, participants can enroll in workforce development and training programs to prepare them for a career within or outside of the UPMC system. These programs offer participants the opportunity to develop skills in medical coding, environmental services, food service, trades (such as masonry), and more.

UPMC and UPMC Health Plan are committed to hiring and retaining a diverse workforce. The Pathways to Work program not only helps us meet this goal but provides lifelong career opportunities to those who are struggling to find gainful, sustainable employment.

Who is eligible?

Pathways to Work is open to individuals age 18 and older who:

- Are unemployed or underemployed.
- Have barriers to finding and maintaining work, such as intellectual or physical challenges.

You do not need to be a UPMC Health Plan health insurance member to participate in Pathways to Work.
